

In the frame again!

Just after confirmation that we have been selected to be framework architects for NHS Tayside, we have also been reappointed to the framework for East Ayrshire Council.

Having been in first framework position with the Council for the last four years, and successfully completed a wide variety of interesting projects, we are delighted to have been appointed in the same position for at least the next two years.

The procurement process for these public frameworks is thorough and demanding, so it is reassuring to have confirmed our ability to provide high quality service at competitive rates.

Dean Castle, Kilmarnock

We are delighted to have been appointed by East Ayrshire Council as Lead Consultant for the prestigious Dean Castle Parks for People project. The project comprises extensions to the Visitor Centre and Rural Life Centre, extensive landscaping, two new bridges, new Interpretive Display and upgrading of the paths network.

The project is due for completion in 2017 and will provide a fantastic resource for the local community, as well as being an asset of national significance.

Update from Orkney

Phase 1 of a housing project for Orkney Housing Association is nearing completion and the residents are due to receive their keys mid-February. Built at Stenness, the 8 single storey houses form a small community around a central landscaped area.

We are delighted that Phase 2 has been given the go ahead and work is due to start in the spring. This will add a further 6 units with a mix of shared ownership and rental accommodation and complete the circular form of the site layout. Phase 2 is due for completion in autumn of this year.

Double celebration

Born on the same date in the same year in two different parts of the UK .....and then both ended up working for Wylie Shanks Architects! Trish Craig and Annette Welsh recently celebrated their joint 60th Birthday.
